Course Requirements and Assignments

Success in this course is based on the expectation that students will spend, for each unit of credit, a minimum of 45 hours over the length of the course (normally three hours per unit per week) for instruction, preparation/studying, or course related activities, including but not limited to internships, labs, and clinical practica. Other course structures will have equivalent workload expectations as described in the syllabus.

In order to satisfy the requirement for SJSU Studies Area Z, you must write a minimum of 8,000 words in this class. This requirement will be met through the assignments listed below.

Key Semester Dates

First Day of Class – August 22
Last Day to Drop Classes – September 15
Paper Proposal Due – September 28
Research Workshop #1 – October 10
First Peer Edits Workshop – November 9
Research Workshop #2 – November 14
Second Peer Edits Workshop – November 28
Writing Journal Due – December 5
Last Day of Class – December 5
Final Paper Due – December 14

Writing Journal

You will complete a writing journal in class over the course of the semester. Entries must be typed and submitted to Canvas, so bring your laptop with you to each class. These exercises will comprise your semester-long Writing Journal, with entries of at least 250 words each. The expectation is that the final Writing Journal is at least 5,000 words. You are free to write longer entries. These entries must focus on economics or the economic way of thinking, e.g. you can apply economics to everyday life. Students will then discuss their writing journal entries in breakout groups. If you do not have a laptop, you can request a no-cost laptop rental through Student Computing Services: <https://library.sjsu.edu/student-computing-services>

Research Exercises

Each class will end with about 30 minutes of data exercises (Tuesdays) or writing exercises (Thursdays). The two Research Workshops and any quizzes are also graded as part of Research Exercises. You should bring your laptop to class each day so you are able to participate. You may complete the exercise outside of class but you must participate in class to be eligible for credit. If you do not have a laptop, you can request a no-cost laptop rental through Student Computing Services: <https://library.sjsu.edu/student-computing-services>

Final Paper

As part of this course, each student will propose and submit a research paper on a subject covered in this class. The final paper is due in Canvas and to Turnitin on the day of the university scheduled final exam, December 14, and should run between 6 to 8 pages of text, double spaced, Times New Roman font, size 12, 1-inch margins in a Word Document (.doc or .docx). The expectation is that each page is about 300 words, and the final draft will be between 1,800 and 2,400 words. Tables and references do not contribute to the page count. In addition to the text of your paper, you must include the analysis output used to generate your results (Excel, R, Python, Stata, etc) with your submission. The assignment will be graded using a rubric on Canvas. There are assignments along the semester which will guide you through this process, listed below. Your final paper must be submitted to Canvas by December 14 to receive credit.

Paper Proposal

In order to prepare for the final paper, you will submit a 1–2-page proposal in Canvas by September 28 stating the research question and hypothesis, data sources, methods, and five economic journal citations you plan to use (refer to the Canvas Template). I will then approve this proposal or require adjustments before you proceed. You do not have to wait until the due date (and I recommend you don't!) to submit this proposal. The proposal operates on a COMPLETE/INCOMPLETE basis.

First Draft and Peer Edits

The first draft of your paper (minimum 3 pages double spaced) is due in class on November 9. We will then conduct in-class peer review edits and discussion of your drafts using the final paper rubric with which you will be graded. It is your responsibility to make sure you bring two copies of your paper to class. Failure to provide a draft will result in zero credit for that peer edit round. You will be graded on the quality of the peer edits you provide to your classmate's paper. The expectation is that each page is about 300 words, and the first draft will be at least 900 words.

Second Draft and Peer Edits

The second draft of your paper (minimum 5 pages double spaced) is due in class on November 28. We will then conduct in-class peer review edits and discussion of your drafts using the final paper rubric with which you will be graded. It is your responsibility to make sure you bring two copies of your paper to class. Failure to provide a draft will result in zero credit for that peer edit round. You will be graded on the quality of the peer edits you provide to your classmate's paper. The expectation is that each page is about 300 words, and the first draft will be at least 1,500 words.

Paper Presentation

You will give a 10-minute presentation on your paper in class. Your presentation slides must be uploaded to Canvas by midnight before the day of your presentation.

Office Hours

The best way to contact me is by email at darwynn.deyo@sjsu.edu. My office hours are Wednesdays, 3:30 – 5:30pm over Zoom. Office hours are recorded.

Academic Honesty

The Department of Economics takes academic honesty very seriously and follows the policies posted online at <https://www.sjsu.edu/senate/docs/S07-2.pdf>. It is the responsibility of all students to read and understand what constitutes a violation of academic honesty. Claims of ignorance cannot be used to justify dishonest behaviors. Any student caught engaging in activities that violate the University academic honesty policy will receive zero credit for the course instrument(s) that violates the academic honesty policy, and up to a semester grade of “F” for this course. Students are not permitted to use unapproved aids to complete their thought papers or final paper for them. This prohibition includes, but is not limited to, ChatGPT, Grammarly, and other AI writing aids. Faculty are required to report cheating, plagiarism and all instances of academic misconduct (including self-plagiarism) to the Office of Student Conduct and Ethical Development and to the Chair of the Department of Economics who tracks violations. All students must also complete or retake the SJSU Plagiarism Tutorial & Quiz at <https://libguides.sjsu.edu/plagiarism> by the second week of the semester.

Disability Notice

Please contact me as soon as possible if you need course adaptations or accommodations because of a disability. Presidential Directive 97-03 at https://www.sjsu.edu/president/docs/PD_1997-03.pdf requires that students with disabilities requesting accommodations must register with the Accessible Education Center at <https://www.sjsu.edu/aec/> to establish a record of their disability.

Religious Accommodations

Please contact me as soon as possible if you need course adaptations or accommodations because of a religious holiday. University Policy S14-7 at <https://www.sjsu.edu/senate/docs/S14-7.pdf> requires that students requesting accommodations must inform me in writing, about such holidays before the add deadline at the start of each semester. If such holidays occur before the add deadline, the student must notify me, in writing, at least three days before the date that they will be absent.

Responsibilities

This syllabus outlines both my and your responsibilities in this class. To prove to me that you have read this hefty syllabus thoroughly, send me an email by September 1 with your favorite character in the subject line. (For example, if I were to complete this assignment, I would send myself a message with a subject line reading “Luke Skywalker”). In the body of your email, list five important pieces of information you have gleaned from reading this syllabus. This earns you 2 extra points on your final paper.

Possible Work Stoppage

The California Faculty Association (the labor union of Lecturers, Professors, Coaches, Counselors, and Librarians across the 23 CSU campuses) is in a difficult contract dispute with California State University management. It is possible that we will call a strike or other work stoppage this term. I will promptly inform you of any schedule disruption. For further information go to www.CFAbargaining.org.

Other Class Policies

1. Students and the professor will show respect for others at all times and will refer to people using the names and personal pronouns they share.
2. Class will begin on time and end on time. Students are expected to be on time.
3. Students must use their SJSU email to communicate with me regarding course material and messages related to this class. I will make an effort to reply to course-related emails within two business days, but I will not open email attachments from non-SJSU emails.
4. Students must submit all work through Canvas. All final written work is automatically submitted to Turnitin.
5. Cumulative grades on Canvas do not reflect your class grade. You may request a grade check from me during class with at least two business days’ notice. I cannot send grades over email due to FERPA law.
6. Except for cases approved by the Accessible Education Center, students are not permitted to record class or share class materials without permission. All class material are protected by instructor copyright.

University Policies

Per University Policy S16-9, university-wide policy information relevant to all courses, such as academic integrity, accommodations, etc. will be available on Office of Graduate and Undergraduate Programs’ Syllabus Information web page at <http://www.sjsu.edu/gup/syllabusinfo/> Make sure to review these policies and resources.
